New line in boats

THE FIRST of a new line in fishing craft takes shape (below) . . . this hull, moulded in glass-reinforced plastic at the Hatston, Kirkwall, depot of Halmatic (Scotland) Ltd., will be completed by a traditional Orkney boat-builder. The hull will be towed to James Duncan's boatyard at Burray to be decked and fitted out. Halmatic's Orkney project is aimed at breaking into the Scottish market for inshore fishing boats.
